FUDAN THE UNIVERSITY

Fudan University (simplified Chinese: 复旦大学 ; traditional Chinese: 復旦大學 ; pinyin: Fùdàn Dàxué), located in Shanghai, China, is one of the most prestigious and selective universities in China; It is consistently ranked in the world's top 100 most academic universities. It is also a member in the C9 League. Its institutional predecessor was founded in 1905, shortly before the end of China's imperial Qing dynasty. Fudan is now composed of four campuses in downtown Shanghai, including Handan (邯 鄆), Fenglin (枫林), Zhangjiang (张江), and Jiangwan (江湾), which share the same central administration. Fudan is home to about 40 , 000 students and staffs. There are 11 Level I national key academic disciplines and 19 Level II national key academic disciplines. Over the past hundred years, Fudan University has made outstanding contributions to the country by developing talent, innovating in science and technology, carrying forward civilization, and serving society.

CAMPUS LIFE

Foreign Students Dormitory

Fudan Foreign Students Dormitory is located northwest of Fudan campus. The Students' cafeteria and the Gym are behind the Foreign Students Dormitory. The lobby of the main building includes: reception desk, mini-supermarket, reading area, mail boxes and a 24-hour reception desk service. All rooms in the main building are equipped with balcony, air-conditioner, private bathroom and Internet portal.

Guanghua Towers

Guanghua Towers are on the main campus. It takes the main teaching tasks in academic terms, and consists of four buildings: east and west main buildings, and east and west supplementary buildings. The Center for BRICS Studies is located on the 9th floor of the west main building (simplified Chinese: 西(xī)主(zhǔ)楼(lóu)).

Catering

There are two student canteens on the campus. One is Beiyuan Canteen (simplified Chinese: 北(běi)苑(yuàn)餐(cān)厅(tīng)) to the southeast of Foreign Students Dormitory, the other is Danyuan Canteen (simplified Chinese: 旦(dàn)苑(yuàn)餐(cān)厅(tīng)) not far away from Guanghua Towers.

Student Card

You will receive a student card from the Center. A student card is commonly used to pay for the dishes in the student restaurant of the north area. It is a digital financial account that a student can see it as a debit card used in the University.

The deposit in the card can be increased, in either a student canteen or the 1st floor of Guanghua Towers, by converting cash or transferring from a real debit card or credit card.

Shopping

Shanghai Education Store is a small supermarket near Foreign Students Dormitory.

It sells foods, drinks and daily commodities but without alcoholic beverages and cigarettes.

Wal-Mart, the nearest supermarket, is to the east of the University and at the cross of Zhengtong Road and Songhu Road which are two kilometers away from here. The malls such as Shanghai the First Food, Wanda (simplified Chinese: 万 (wàn) 达 (dá)), and Bailian Youyicheng (simplified Chinese: 百 (bǎi) 联 (lián) 又 (yòu) 一 (yī) 城 (chéng)) are near Wal-Mart.

Hospitals

There is a school infirmary in the southwest corner of the main campus, in which mild illness can be treated.

The nearest hospital outside the University is Changhai Hospital:

No.174, Changhai Rd.; Tel: 021-55786628;

SIGHTS & SHOPPING IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai (上海) is the largest city in China, and one of the largest metropolitan areas in the world, with over 20 million people. Located on China's central eastern coast just at the mouth of the Yangtze River.

Originally a fishing and textiles town, Shanghai grew to importance in the 19th century due to its favorable port location and as one of the cities opened to foreign trade by the 1842 Treaty of Nanking. The City flourished as a center of commerce between east and west, and became a multinational hub of finance and business by the 1930s. After 1990, the economic reforms introduced by Deng Xiaoping resulted in intense re-development and financing in Shanghai, and in 2005 Shanghai became the world's largest cargo port.

Today, Shanghai is the largest center of commerce and finance in mainland China, and has been described as the "showpiece" of the world's fastest-growing major economy.
